Council's Student Members To Be Picked In Convocation

Wartburg's ballot-weary student body will end this season's name checking in convo next Tuesday as it selects six students to serve on the newly-sanctioned Student Union Council while sophomores also re-vote their Senatorial ticket.

According to rulings set up for the embryo Council, student representation is limited to three each from both the sophomore and junior classes. Of these three, at least one elected must be a woman. The complete Union governing body will also include four faculty members and one alumnus.

5 Sophs Running

Sophomores tossing their hats in the Council ring include Carolyn Adix, John Beem, Eldand Ehrhard, Joan Oltman and Jim Reever. Junior aspirants are Mary Hoh, Joel Maring, Walter Pilgrim, Jacqueline Reents and Bill Wiederanders.

Sinee Joan Oltman's name appeared on the Junior Senatorial ballot rather than Jean's last week, a second sophomore vote will be taken after convo Tuesday.

Sophomores On Ballot

Carolyn Adix, Don Altmann, Myrin Bentz, Joanne Hellmann, Harold Hinrichs, Joan Oltman, Ed Schneider and Helen Schwerin are the sopbomore office-seekers.

Wednesday and Thursday balloting revealed freshmen Glinda Deines, Judy Gore and Stan Vogel as '55-'56 Senators, and also saw Jean Pfeifer, Bob Vogel and Paul Wittenberg chosen as next year's senior mainstays.

Barring another bad ballot, Tuesday's voting will fill next year's Student Senate.

Wartburg Students To Take Positions As Parish Workers

Several Wartburg students will assume positions as parish workers following graduation.

Two graduates, Phyllis Hanselman and Marliss Schroeder have accepted calls as district parish workers. Miss Hanselman in the Dakota District, Miss Hanselman will assume the responsibility of the Wheatland District.

Lorraine Heilener, sophomore, plans to be a parish secretary in Cedarburg, Wis. Senior Jeanette Schnoor has been called by the congregation in Galion, Ohio, and Barbara Bauer, sophomore, will serve in Oconomowoc, Wis.

Summer jobs in volunteer work have also been taken by several girls. Sophomore Gail Hartner will work for the congregation in Tulsa, Okla., while Donna Groth will be in Worthington, Minn. Alberta Brandt will be in Clara City, Minn.

Mary Lou Thiese, junior, will assist in Bible School at Flanagan, Ill.

J. Pfeifer To Head Student Association

Jean Pfeifer, junior, was chosen president of next year's Wartburg Women Student Association in last Tuesday's elections. She will replace current prexy, Ruth Adix, senior.

Junior Edith Baderschneider will assume portion of vice president. Secretary-treasurer of the group will be elected by the board at the beginning of the next school year.

Engagement Revealed

Alice Vorthmann, sophomore from Council Bluffs, was engaged to Louis Novak, senior from Logan, Kan., late this week.

Fintel Accommodates 2 Happy Visitors

Norm Fintel and Joyce Erks of Public Relations hand out registration material to two visiting high school students in Knights Gym.

Beautiful Iowa spring weather greeted the more than 500 high school students, their chaperones and advisors. It was a record turnout. Yesterday over 200 parents visited the campus as the weather man again cooperated fully.

Project Fund Exceeds $1,600 Goal

Final tabulations show that the student body fund-raising drive has surpassed its goal of $1,600.

Elder Windhorn, junior and general chairman of the student body project committee, said that $3616.67 of the money was raised by the "successful" all school carnival.

This amount, plus $1,265.50 raised through student solicitations, make a grand total of $1,657.17, welt over the $1,600 goal.

The money is to be used as a four-year scholarship for a foreign student who will be selected by the scholarship committee from the hundred or more applications received each year.

"Every Wartburg student who has contributed to this project has a right to feel proud of its success," Windhorn said. I am sure the scholarship committee will do its utmost to see that a needy and deserving student receives the scholarship."

Dr. Allen To Speak At Chem Banquet

Dr. James A. Van Allen, head of the department of physics at the State University of Iowa, will be the speaker at the annual American Chemical Society banquet at the Tri-Delta Inn Friday, May 13, at 6:30 n.m.

A pioneer in stratospheric research with rockets, Dr. Van Allen will speak and show slides on "High Altitude Rockets."

Deadline Swing Show

All application for 1955-56 Swing Show Director must be filed in the Student Senate office before Monday, May 16, according to Ruth Fritschel, Student Body Secretary.

FOR DECADE OF DEDICATION

Wartburg Salutes Dr. Becker

By Harold Kurtz
TRUMPET News Writer

Ten years of progress were observed yesterday as the Wartburg family paid tribute to a decade of leadership by President C. H. Becker.

Speaking at the Parents Day Convocation, Dr. G. J. Neumann, college vice president and English Department head, gave recognition to Dr. Becker for his service to Wartburg College.

Service At St. Paul's

A special service of thanksgiving and rededication was held at St. Paul's at 6 p.m. last night. Dr. W. F. Schmidt, pastor and chairman of the Board of Higher Education of the American Lutheran Church, was in charge.

Following the service, President Becker, Mrs. Becker and daughter Kathy and President Becker's mother, were guests at a banquet in St. Paul's Parish House. Attending were the members of the faculty and staff, local members of the Board of Regents and Board of Higher Education.

Dr. Alfred Haefner, dean of faculty, delivered a short address. H. C. Engelbrecht, assistant to the president, was toastmaster. Musical selections were provided by C. Robert Larson of the Music Department with Miss Jean Abramson, also of the Music Department, at the piano.

Given Money For Trunk

Money to purchase luggage for his proposed European trip was presented to Dr. Becker by Miss Helen Wright of the Art Department from faculty, staff and board.

During Wartburg's Centennial in 1952, the Schield Bandana Corporation of Waverly donated funds to enable him to go to Europe. Due to his constant activity on behalf of Wartburg, he has never had the opportunity to make the trip. The summer of 1956 he intends to go.

Walter Voecks, president of the Board of Regents, presented a monetary gift, which would enable both Dr. and Mrs. Becker to make the trip. The money was donated by friends of President Becker in the community.

Family Receives Book

A book, "The Old Testament and the Fine Arts," signed by all those taking part in the evening's festivities, was also received by the Beckers as a keepsake of the occasion.

Chairman of the celebration was the Rev. Walter Tillmanns, head of the Modern Languages Department.

As "Uncle Herb" Engelbrecht said, "It's almost impossible to make a statement about President Becker. What he has done is a matter of record."

Pres. C. H. Becker pauses a moment to admire some greenery and reflect upon 10 years of service at Wartburg.

Powers Debate Stirs Senate

Powers of student government at Wartburg came under fire on the Senate floor Monday night as a minor incident touched off a major debate.

Flexing its muscles in the most positive show of strength in recent years, the Senate asserted to itself the power to define and interpret its own powers through "elastic" clauses in the Student Body Constitution.

Packed with business needing action in the last 54-'55 Senate legislative session before the June duck meeting May 16, Monday night's agenda also included reports from Student Body Project Research, Union furnishing and freshmen initiation committees.

Chuck Bose's Research Committee presented the findings of its study of the co-op bookstore problem. No action was taken on the report and it was filed for future reference. Union committee head Paul Reyelts asked that motions be passed allowing his committee and the soon-to-be-elected Union Council to work together closely in selecting and purchasing of Student Memorial Union recreational furnishings.

Amended Freshman Initiation regulations were referred again to the Senate by freshman Senator Stan Vogel. The Solons accepted the altered rules and sent them on to the Faculty-Student Council for final action.

Loftus Issues Challenge

Fiery discussion on residential Senate power was ignited when Student Body President Tom Loftus challenged the right of the Lutheran Student Council to continue with a planned solicitation of the Student Body without Senate permission.

LS Council president Norm Melchert was called into the Senate meeting soon after the solicitation question came to the floor. He said (and later retracted part of the statement) that it was his feeling that LS Council had no need to ask permission to solicit funds from the Student Body since all Lutherans in it are automatic members of Lutheran Students of America, parent organization of the LS Council, according to LSA.

This membership representation, Melchert felt, made it unnecessary to consult any other group.

First Senate sections of Article II of the constitution were cited as implying that the Senate had the power to regulate such activities.

Hutchison Disagrees

Student Body vice president Deane Hutchison disagreed, stating that he didn't believe the Senate could "have an unwritten law that has quite as much power as this. Such powers should be specifically stated."

Senior Senator, Junior Senator Bob Vogel said, "Nothing except elections is specifically stated in the constitution-it is implied. As a Senator, there isn't a doubt in my mind that the Senate has this power."

In reply to a statement by Melchert that the LS Council has never gone to the Senate before, and that a precedent had been set in previous unsanctioned solicitations, Vogel declared that the Senate was trying to assert a power and is not held to precedent.

"The Senate is assuming too much," Hutchison declared.

Vogel Answers Hutchison

"Time after time," retorted Vogel, "in the Senates of which I have been a member, the Senate has acted upon opportunities to define and expand its powers. We have the power!"

The junior Senator then introduced a motion that in light of a "rumored" all-school solicitation drive by LS Council and because of the nature of it, the Senate gave its approval.

Hutchison attacked the motion as describing, since no matter which way it was voted it would mean that the Senate did have the power of control. After a heated discussion Vogel withdrew the motion and asked for a vote on interpretation from the Senate.

President Calls Vote

Saying that the question was whether the Senate has the power to enforce action in the matter under discussion and if the constitution was being interpreted correctly, President Loftus called a vote.

In a roll call poll of the body, the Senate upheld the liberal interpretation of the constitution, 13-3. Voting against a loose reading were Hutchison, Reyelts and Mel Frahm, freshman Senator. Ruth Fritschel, Student Body secretary, abstained and all other Senators voted for the liberal construction.

Following this, Vogel re-entered his previous motion and it was carried unanimously.

Fine Arts Building SW Of Pub House

The new $250,000 Fine Arts Building is to be erected on the block in which the Publications House is now located, the college Building Committee disclosed Thursday.

Meeting with R. W. Law, a representative of the Morrel-Nichols firm of landscape architects, the committee, under the chairmanship of Pres. C. H. Becker, decided the site would best fit in with plans for future expansion of the Wartburg campus.

The Morrel-Nichols firm, which designed the campus of the University of Minnesota, has been called in for consultation with the Building Committee in the past.

Exact location of the Fine Arts Building is to be 25 feet in from the south and west edges of the block. Test holes will be dug next week to determine the weight-bearing qualities of the soil.

After building plans are completed, bidding on the construction contract will begin in June, and construction could start as early as August, according to H. C. Engelbrecht, assistant to the president.

God Bless You And Your Family

When Pres. C. H. Becker assumed the presidency of a small, rather unprogressive college in northern Iowa in 1945, no one would have believed that within a short span of 10 years, this school would become one of the leaders in the American Lutheran Church and would be recognized as one of the outstandingly progressive institutions of higher learning in the state.

Only a decade ago Wartburg College was faltering. The Board of Regents had just voted to keep the school in Waverly. Pres. Becker was called upon to handle the chore of constructing a solid foundation for the college.

He immediately rolled up his sleeves, which, incidentally, he hasn't had time to unroll, and mapped out a plan whereby Wartburg would become "bigger and better Wartburg." With God as his most faithful helper, he succeeded and is succeeding in carrying out a physical expansion and development program drawn up by himself and the Board of Regents.

His 10 years of devoted service have made him a veteran of ground-breaking ceremonies. Among his list of expansion achievements are the construction of an additional story on Grossmann Hall, conversion of North Hall's bottom floor into a cafeteria, the remodelling of Luther Hall to provide needed library space, construction of Knights Gymnasium, erection of a women's dormitory and, as another point in the development program is realized, the construction of a Student Union.

At present he is scraping still fresh dirt from his spade in preparation for the removal of the first shovel of earth for the Fine Arts Building.

During the administration of Pres. Becker, the enrollment has soared to heights undreamed of. In 1945, 271 students registered. The following year the figure was almost doubled with 528. In 1950-51 the enrollment reached 609. This year—over 700. What next year? The number of applications received will well exceed the number that can be handled by the college.

One of the major goals of Pres. Becker was to secure North Central accreditation. This was realized in 1948.

Is this all? Are these all of the achievements that this man has recorded? By all means, no. Some cannot be measured in enrollments or constructed upon a piece of ground, but, rather, are instilled in the hearts of the people with whom he has been associated.

Dr. Becker has created a living Christian atmosphere around the campus of Wartburg College. His sheer desire to work and his unruffled religious complacency have endeared him in the hearts of the students whom he loves so much.

He has rebounded from a sick bed more than once in order to care for his students. Motivated by a desire to serve his fellow men, Pres. Becker has given graciously and wholeheartedly 10 years of his life to Wartburg.

The Student Body wishes you well on this, your 10th anniversary of service to Wartburg College. And, as you have so often remarked to others, may the students of Wartburg say to you and your family, "God bless you."

Footnotes To Faith:

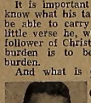
Meek Shall Inherit Earth

By Arthur Diers

"Take my yoke upon you and learn of me: for I am meek and lowly in heart: and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy and my burden is light." Matt. 11:28-30.

It is important for everyone to know what his task is in order to be able to carry it out. In this little verse he, who would be the follower of Christ is told what his burden is to be—it is Christ's burden.

And what is Christ's burden? We all know that Christ did not come to be served; He did not come to lay burdens on others; He bore burdens. Those burdens were made difficult for Him to bear for He was forsaken, despised, persecuted and insulted.



Diers

However, this life of suffering was not pushed on Him, but, indeed, He took it upon Himself. In fact, His greatest joy was found in bearing the burdens of others, and His deepest sorrow was experienced when they refused to accept His help. Certainly, if there were ever a burden which can be called heavy, Christ's was that.

How can it be that this heavy burden can be called light? It sounds impossible, but, I think, we often talk this way. For what is precious and most dear, will, although heavy to bear, upon reflection and because one is so much in love, seem rather light.

So there is one thought which contains the secret of the transformation of faith from the heavy burden into the light. This thought is that the heavy suffering is profitable and, hence, easy.

But that the suffering is easy cannot be seen, it must be believed. Even as the removal of a mountain is, humanly speaking, impossible, so that the heavy mountain of suffering and pain is profitable, too, is impossible. But the believer says, "Let the suffering increase. It is profitable." For who does not desire more of that which is profitable?

Since for the Christian, only the yoke of Christ is that which is profitable, it must be borne as Christ bore it—in meekness. It is meekness which bore heavy burdens lightly. For meekness forgets the heavy burden in the helping; it makes the burden so invisible that it conceals the world's guilt.

And the meek stand so squarely before God that they hardly recognize how heaven's forgiveness of themselves depend on their own forgiving so that they really need to forgive.

The yoke of the Christian is the yoke of Christ. A yoke which delights in suffering under the burdens of others. A yoke which for the Christian becomes light, in spite of the heavy suffering, because he believes it to be profitable. A yoke which is borne lightly only if it become as Christ bore it—in meekness.

There is yet one more implication which might be pulled from this little verse: The yoke of Christ is light, but it is hard to learn to bear lightly. It is easy to be a Christian, but, oh, so hard to become one.

All of its naturalized citizens migrate from other countries. Though most of them love Slobovia and have a deep loyalty to it, few of them have been known to stay for more than four years. The most amazing phenomena is that people welcome them when they come, love them for four years and applaud with great joy when they leave.

Trackmen To Olympics After Victory

By Stan Vogel
TRUMPET Sports Writer

Wartburg trackmen, after decisively defeating Loras and Upper Iowa Wednesday, journey to Rock Island, Ill., today to compete with five other Lutheran schools in the Viking Olympics.

A Senior Day crowd Wednesday witnessed the breaking of two school records—Nelson Bose in the high hurdles and Bob Adix in the high jump—as the Knights placed first with 83 points. Loras was second with 59, and Upper Iowa finished with 20.

Other schools represented in today's meet are Luther College, Decorah; Valparaiso University, Valparaiso, Ind.; St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn.; Carthage College, Carthage, Ill.; and Augustana, the host team.

Knights Just Miss

Wartburg was nudged out of the Olympics trophy last year, 49½-46½, by Valparaiso. Luther, Augustana, Carthage and Gustavus Adolphus College of St. Peter, Minn., followed in that order.

Both a fast track and a supreme effort enabled N. Bose to set a new high hurdle mark. Bose clipped off the 120 yards in :15.8. The old record of :16.2 was held by Charles Bose, who finished a close second to his younger brother in Wednesday's races.

Wartburg nearly scored a shutout in the high jump as three Knights soared over 5'11" to win the first three places. Adix cleared 6'1¼" to set a new outdoor mark. Leon Bauer leaped 6' even and Carl Anderson jumped 5'11".

Win Discus, Shet

Jim Unmacht and Gerald Buckler placed first and second in the discus and shot put events for Wartburg, and Charles and Nelson Bose grabbed the top two places in the low hurdles.

Jim Woodrow tied Bob O'Brien of Loras for pole vault honors. Other Wartburg firsts were posted by Bill Bomhoff in the 100-yard dash and Helmuth Glow in the two-mile run.

Loras picked up firsts in the 880, the 220, the mile run, the 440, the javelin throw and the mile relay. Upper Iowa captured its lone victory in the broad jump.

Two dual meets are scheduled for Wartburg next week. Wednesday the Knights go to Grinnell. Luther comes to Waverly on Saturday.

Upper Iowa—Loras Summary

100-yard dash—1. Bomhoff (W); 2. Wilson (U); 3. Rogers (U). Time, :10.4.

Agonistes

by
Ken Starck

Never has one man disappointed so many in so short a time.

Wes Santee, the cinderella man of the cinder track, bent down on his haunches last Saturday as a throng of people gathered to watch him attempt to accomplish what only two other men in the history of sports have been able to do.

With television cameras raining down upon him from all angles, Santee lunged forward, and four minutes, eight and four-tenths seconds later, he loped down the home stretch and snapped the winner's string. There was little wind that day, and the track was fast.

Last year a 25-year-old pre-medical student defied the rather chilly elements and an unpretentious track, steeped down in starting position and preceeded to perform the "greatest achievement in athletic history." The man was Roger Bannister, and his achievement was the miracle mile.

Bannister legged it around an oval four times, posting an unbelievable time of 3:59.4. Only other human to boast of such an accomplishment is Australia's John Landy.

For several years now, Santee has been chasing the Englishmen's records. He has made more noise than Bannister and Landy together, yet this Kansas cyclone has failed to develop.

His rather dismal performance in the Drake Relays last Saturday only tended to emphasize the fact that Wes Santee will not be the first American to break the four minute barrier.

Santee's fastest mile came recently in the Texas Relays when he galloped to a new United States mile record with a dazzling time of 4:00.5. This is the closest he has come to Bannister and Landy, and he will probably never get any closer.

Time after time, the fleeting Kansan has remarked that he is the best miler today, better than Bannister or Landy. But whether Mr. Santee is aware of it or not, his career is nearing the end of the hemestretch. He is past his peak, and the run downhill goes much faster.

Reflecting on a bit of history concerning the mile-run, books reveal that Charles Lawes of England first aroused the attention of record keepers in 1864 with his then-speedy performance of 4:36.

In 1945 Gunder Hagg circled the oval in 4:01.4. For eight years no one even came close to this. It was then that Bannister etched his great marks one notch above those of Nurmi, Cunningham, Anderson, Wooderson and Santee.

N. Hallers Throttle Grossmann III, 19-3

Intramural softball action the past week saw North Hall do the big game, thumping Grossmann III, 19-3. Behind the pitching of Dick Lehmann, the North Hall boys took a first inning lead and were never behind.

On Monday, Hogen Annex tagged Grossmann Basement with a 9-7 defeat. Thursday, Grossmann III lost to Grossmann Basement, 7-6. Grossmann II, behind the two-hit pitching of John Goebel, beat Old Timer House, 8-5.

The horseshoe tournament is moving slowly, according to chairman Doug Seiler. He requests that all those who have not completed first round competition do so, in order that the finals might be held as early as possible.

W. Voecks' 526 Makes Bowl Inn Contender

With Walter Voecks rolling high series of 526 on 174, 186 and 166 pin counts, the Waverly Bowl Inn won three and one-half games from Meyer's Drug to make a strong bid for runner-up honors.

Top Hat Cleaners, present second-place holders, rolled an 843 team total, second highest of the year, and three games from Ries Hilltop.

Larry's Standard split with Cedar Lawn Motel, opening the possibility of a tie for first, should the Motellites lose all their remaining games and Top Hatters win all theirs.

Marv Mutzenberger hit a high note in the Hatters' victory, rolling a 207, high game for the evening.

Standings

Cedar Lawn Motel	74	38
Top Hat Cleaners	66	46
Waverly Bowl Inn	57½	52½
Meyer's Drug	56½	55½
Ries Hilltop Cafe	46	67
Larry's Standard	36	76

Frosh Women Hold Seats Of Royalty

Freshmen dominate sports royalty this spring Wartburg Letterwomen's Club selected Sharon Fickert to reign as Spring Sports Queen and Marianne Goldenman and Janice Helmke as her attendants. All are freshmen.

The trio was presented at the Spring Visitation Day convocation. Dr. Elmer W. Hertel, head of the Athletic Department, crowned the queen.

Oppie Crew Out To Stop Central In 2

Wartburg's diamond men will be seeking to move back into the win column as they play host to Central in a twin-bill this afternoon.

The Knights own a 3-3 conference mark, after splitting in two contests with Upper Iowa University and dropping another to Buena Vista during the past week.

Helm In Opener

Bob Holm (1-2) will be coach Earnie Oppermann's choice in the opener, while Fred Jaspers (1-1) will twirl for the Knights in the other game.

Behind the impressive hurling of Jaspers, the Knights knocked off league leading UIU, 7-3, in a game played last Saturday on the home diamond.

UIU Avenges Loss

Revenge came on Tuesday when the Peacocks battered the Knights, 12-5, in a game at Fayette.

Jaspers started on the mound for the Knights against BV and was sailing along beautifully until the seventh when the Beavers' big bats started connecting. BV collected 4 hits, including seven extra-base blows.

WITH 'DEIRDRE OF THE SORROWS'

Players Ring Down Final Curtain

By Cy Weinrott
News Editor, TRUMPET

When Wartburg Players ring down the final curtain on their production of John M. Synge's "Dierdre of the Sorrows" tonight, another season of successful theater at Wartburg will be ended, seven Players will have taken their final bows from the Little Theater boards and the audience, if like others before them, will leave with tears in their eyes and heather in their hearts.

Presented tonight at 8:15 in the Little Theater, the legendary tragedy by the noted Irish playwright will cap a four-day run that began last Wednesday with a special performance for Visitation Day guests and continued through a Thursday First Nighter production and Friday's regular presentation.

Fashioning a fascinating and beautiful production, the Players have used a high degree of theater artistry in presenting Synge's poetic lines to rapt, emotionally stirred audiences.

Provide Attractive Showcase

Unique step-and-platform setting and eventually effective lighting provided an attractive showcase for the efforts of Little Theater thespians in the Irish tragedy.

In the title role, Nancy Graese, senior, brings to warm, vivid life the proud girl who refuses to be married against her will to an old king. Building from a rather unimpressive start in the first act, she quickly achieves a high plane and builds toward an even higher climax during the unforgettable third act death scene.

Miss Graese's tender and human interpretation and moving soliloquy are as warm and refreshing as Ireland itself.

Taking the role of Naisi, Deirdre's fore-doomed lover, Con Groscnick, senior, turns in a sparkling performance as a swashbuckling warrior prince. His smoothly flowing stage actions and delivery of lines contribute an air of vigorous naturalness to the drama.

Dickson Portrayal Convincing

Adding to his masterful job of direction, Charles Dickson, head of the Speech Department, drew stellar comment for his convincing portrayal of a tyrannical old king, struggling to fight away old age with spurned love.

Betty Croghan, transferring next year, makes her exit from the Little Theater stage with a moving characterization of Lavarcham. Occasionally dropping out of character, Miss Croghan still hits high peaks of dramatic experience with ease and regularity.

Senior Fred Gonnerman's Fergus is powerful and convincing, despite annoying gestures, and, at times, moving.

Loslo In Dramatic Highlight

Bob Loslo, freshman, exploded the small bit of Owen, the demented lover, into one of the dramatic highlights of the 95 minute production.

In other supporting roles, senior Jack Eake and sophomore Don Oberdorfer contributed credulity and character to their performances as Ainnle and Arden, brothers of Naisi.

Ron Retzlaff is a bluff and marshalling soldier, and Lavonne Otto moans convincingly as the old woman.

Retzlaff is stage manager for the play; Jerry Haver, senior, is in charge of lighting; and junior Shirley Cords is responsible for the impressive costuming.

Skelley At Convo, Prizes To Be Given

Miss Gladys Skelley of the Waverly Democrat will present the highlights of her newspaper and magazine experiences in "Scribbling for a Living" at Tuesday's convocation.

Winners of the local alcohol edi. torial contest will also receive their cash prizes from Miss Margaret Wolld, Journalism Department head.

A graduate of the University of Iowa, Miss Skelley has been on the staffs of the Muscatine Journal, the Iowa City Press-Citizen and the Cedar Rapids Gazette. She also worked with the Iowa Farm Bureau, a rural magazine, "Prairie Farmer" and radio station WLS in Chicago.

The contest is sponsored by the Intercollegiate Association for the Study of the Alcohol Problem. It presents four prizes on the local level. The first prize is $10, and $5 is presented to each of the three other winners.

Installation of newly-elected Student Body President Don Manthei will be a major part of the Student Body Meeting to be held at Thursday's convocation.

Phebes Pick J. Reents; Other Officers Chosen

Jackie Reents, junior, was elected president of Phebes at its last meeting, April 16. Other officers chosen were: vice president, Vivian Rudolf, sophomore; secretary-treasurer, Karen Dettmer, sophomore; and publicity chairman, Rosemary Limburg, freshman.

Final meeting of Phebes will be a picnic on May 22. The group will meet behind Kotha House at 5 p.m. for a hike north of town.
